Welcome to the inaugural season of East-West Piano Arts!

Our exciting series aims to bridge the diverse cultures in our community through the universal language of music, transcending everyday boundaries and enabling us to connect deeply by recognizing our common ground, as well as celebrating our differences.

The concerts will be performed in the intimate space of Brechemin Auditorium at the University of Washington School of Music. The affordable ticket price of $10 is ideal for individuals and families alike! (Tickets are available at the door only, no advance sales.)

For more information about our East-West Piano Arts concerts, log onto the University of Washington School of Music's Web site at www.music.washington.edu and click on "Events," or call 206-898-7945.

Please join us for an exciting season of music with renowned artists such as Paul Chihara and Susan Chan, highlighting the very best of the East and the West!
